OLD BILL OF SALE.

Of a Negro Boy Who Brought $300.

Mr. B. W. Harned in cleaning out some old papers recently found a bill of sale executed by Wm. Key to his grandfather Wm. Carroll, for a negro boy named Talferro in October 1835.

The price paid was $300 and the boy at that time was 8 years old, and warranted to be "sound and sensible." He grew to manhood, was freed in 1863 and died about five years ago, a very old man.

LYCEUM COURSE

Is Again Assured By The Union Tabernacle Association.

BETTER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Outline Of Probable Attractions For The Coming Season.

The Directors of the Union Tabernacle Association held a meeting yesterday and decided to have another Lyceum Course this season. Messrs. Walker Wood and Ed J. Duncan were nominated to act with the Board representing their respective churches.

From the report of the Treasurer it was shown that last season's course was a success. All expenses were paid and about $200 spent in improving and repairing the building. If the sale of the tickets this season will justify it, it is the intention of the Board to put in Opera Chairs in the main part of the building. This is a long felt want and it is hoped it can be done.

The Lyceum Course is a distinct advantage to a town of this size and aside from getting more for your money in the way of entertainment than could be had from most any other source (the Association owning the building and being out of debt) every patron is helping in the moral uplift of the city and getting a form of advertisement that it would be hard to buy with any amount of money.

The Board believes that the course this season will be the best yet offered. It will perhaps open with the Cambrian National Glee Singers and include Castle Square Entertainers (quartette), The LaBarge Musical Company, Apollo Concert Party, The Tyrolean Alpine Singers and Yodlers, Cora Genieve Ramsden, Walden & Co. Magicians, Mr. Edward Elliot the Monologist and the famous "Bill Bone" with a Humorous lecture.

TO BEAUTIFY LITTLE RIVER

Mayor Meacham Will Ask Council For An Appropriation.

TO CONSTRUCT A DAM.

Making Boating, Fishing, Bathing And Skating Free To Whole City.

At the next meeting of the Council, September 1, Mayor Meacham will make a recommendation for an appropriation to improve and beautify the channel of Little River inside the city limits, increasing the supply of water in the channel all of the year. The stream gets very low in summer and almost goes dry in September some years. The plan is to put a dam across the river above the mouth of the Ninth street sewer sufficient to make the water from six to eight feet deep in the channel, which is 40 to 50 feet wide. This would give a beautiful stream more than a mile long up to the waterworks dam. The channel is most of the way well shaded and winds its way under three beautiful bridges. This body of pure fresh water would be fed by two never failing springs inside the city and the overflow from waterworks dam would keep the stream fresh at all times.

This would solve the question of sanitation, as there would be no stagnant pools in the stream. It would furnish boating, bathing and fishing right in the city for the people, and for skating in winter. The young people would organize swimming and rowing clubs, and there could be boat races over a course a mile long.

The stream would at once be stocked with fish and after a season or two thrown open to the public for fishing.

The city has full authority to police the stream and regulate its use by ordinances.

It is already a misdemeanor to put filth or sewerage of any unsanitary kind in the stream and these ordinances would be rigidly enforced, and the river banks beautified.

There is authority to compel persons owning land to the water's edge to build retaining walls and improve the banks, as may seem necessary. There would be a few sandbars and others obstructions to take out, some weed beds to remove and some overhanging trees to trim, but about the only cost would be the construction of a concrete dam at the foot of Ninth Street 50 feet long and 8 or 10 feet high. It would have a flood gate in it for flushing the stream below and the top could be used as a footbridge to the ball park.

It is believed that the Council will take favorable action and that the work will be ordered at once.

Nothing could be done to give more genuine pleasure and satisfaction to as many people in the city, old and young, at so small an outlay of money.

IN DEMAND.

Kentucky Girl Not To Be Old
Man's Darling.

Portland, Ore., Aug. 24.—A December and May Romance, springing from a matrimonial want advertisement was ended here when the municipal department of public safety for girls refused to permit William G. Delaney, a middle-aged blacksmith, to marry Vera Clark, a pretty 16-year-old girl, of Paducah, Ky., who came to Portland on Dela-ney's solicitation a month ago.

The girl saw Delaney's advertisement in a Kentucky paper and she answered it. Delaney wooing her by mail, she accepted him, coming to Oregon on the $57 which he sent her.

The authorities affirm that Delaney is in no position to support a wife. Delaney demands that the girl repay the $57. She being without funds, has secured a position, intending to earn money with which to repay him. Her only living relative is a grandmother in Paducah.
More than one hundred Oregon men have sent written proposals to the girl.

BOOKS TO CLOSE.

On Saturday Sept. 2 And Election Will Occur.

On Saturday September 2, the books of the Planters' Protective Association of Kentucky and Tennessee will close and no further pledges will be received covering the 1911 crop after that date. On the same day the members will meet at their respective voting precincts all over the tobacco district, embracing seventeen counties in the two states, and select precinct committeemen
who will form the governing board for the respective counties. On the following Saturday these precinct committeemen will meet in the several county seats and select a chairman and secretary. The chairman, by virtue of his office, then becomes a member of the district executive board, which has charge of all the affairs of the association, and this board, at a later date, will select a full list of officers for the association.

The parents of a Kansas girl, who tongue to replace that bitten off by their daughter in an automobile accident, would seem to be intent on spoiling a good wife.—Louisville

Arkansas after you, Ollie," said Representative T. J. Hefflin to Representative Ollie James. "You've gotten into the presidential class for fair."

"They've already named a race horse after me," said Mr. James, with pardonable pride, "but where is this town?"

"Somewhere in the Ozarks."

"Hum," said Mr. James, "now did they work in my name?"

Mr. Hefflin had reached the door
by this time.

"They called the place Bald Knob," he said and ran.

The Child Snob.

There is a natural, simple and rather high-minded etiquette among children;
also is there an unlovely and artificial etiquette among children who have heard and seen too much of an unlovely world; for children can be the worst of snobs. Some little girls, ten or twelve years old, daughters of a rich neighborhood, were found to be examining the petticoats of new children who ventured in their neighborhood to play. Unless their underclothes were hand-made, they were not voted good enough to play in the established set!

A child may be cruelly ostracized
for some difference, some lack of clothing or appearance. Do you remember the story of the poor little girl who used to bring blocks tied up in a napkin to school to look as though she had lunch like the other children? But among unspoiled and natural children the child who is different need not suffer for any length of time. A strong character and a sweet temperament will win through any artificial barrier of circumstances.—The Designer.

Wagon Built Like a Peanut.

"Some very grotesque delivery wagons are turned out nowadays," said an Amerbury carriage manufacturer.
"Many owners wish something emblematic of the business they are engaged in. There are wagons shaped like bottles of patent medicines, like shoes, like hats and like cigar boxes.
There is a man in Old Orchard, Me., whose business is the selling of peanut candy, and he has a delivery wagon built in the shape of a large yellow peanut."

The Old Attendant Was Faithful.

When Napoleon died at Longwood,
St. Helena, a rainstorm was raging.
A faithful attendant threw over the body of the emperor the cloak he had worn at Marengo—a battle won by the incomparable Desaix after it had been lost by the commander-in-chief of the army of Italy.

LOCKING UP THE JURYMEN

Outrageous and Possibly Illegal Custody That Has Come Down From Old Times.

Some of the shabby brocade of court etiquette has been cleared out of our courts, such as gowns and wigs. Some that still hang in faded shreds is dusty, but inoffensive. But some surviving practices are seriously objectionable.

For instance, the outrageous habit of locking jurymen up. Why? During the progress of a civil case which lasts three or four days jurymen can go home nights. But when the case is given to the jury, the jury must go into continuous session, under lock and key, until it reaches a verdict.
There is no sufficient reason why we should not go home at the end of a day, and come back to our work next morning, just as we men do in any other business. The imprisonment of a jury tends to hasty decisions, to the forced verdicts of weary minds incapacitated for thinking. Much better to drop a difficult case, go home, sleep, come fresh to the jury room in the morning and resume deliberation.
If jurymen are in danger of being tampered with after a case is given to them, then they are in equivalent danger of being tampered with during the progress of the case.

The incarceration of the jury is, I hold, against the rights and liberties of citizens.

I am willing to give a portion of my time, without pay, to public business; but I resent the turning of the sheriff's key behind my back. I resent having to walk down to the street to supper (or breakfast) in military or criminal column-by-two. The judge very often has to spend several days in deciding a question of law. Why not lock him up until his mind works to a conclusion?—Case and Comment.

MODERN WOMEN LACK GRACE

Famous Artist Says Fair Sex Never Before Walked or Carried Itself so Badly.

Marcus Stone, R. C., the famous artist, says: "I do not believe that women—or men either, for that matter—have ever walked or carried themselves as badly as they do now,
the women with their elbows out,
their shoulders up, their necks pushed forward, the men for the most part chestless creatures with sloping necks. Arms were not made to stick out on either side like jug handles."

"Of course, as an artist I am at war with fashion and its constant changes—which prevent woman evolving a dress which expresses her individuality—but especially with the fashion of wearing corsets, which, to my mind, destroy the outlines of the figure and cramp the freedom of woman's movements. Never before in my life has woman been so much imprisoned and laced up as she is today—that is to say, of course, all except the willowy women, whose figures accord with present fashion.
How can she move gracefully in a tube which pushes her shoulders up, shortens her neck, and sends her elbows out? The sloping attitude of neck adopted by men and women I attribute to the wearing, especially when young, of high stiff collars. The least pressure on the back of the neck sends the head forward, and thus a habit is formed."

Anne Boleyn's Coach.

"Headless coaches" are fairly numerous. The most famous is the one that drives once a year, on the anniversary of Anne Boleyn's execution, up the avenue at Blenheim, her Norfolk home, says the London Chronicle.
The coachman and the four horses have not a head between them, and Anne's own is not upon her shoulders, but she holds it in her lap as she sits in the coach all in white. At the hall door the whole apparition vanishes.
Anne's father, Sir Thomas, also rides in a coach drawn by headless horses once a year, and his ride is much more exciting than his daughter's. He has to cross forty county bridges during the night and a company of yelling demons pursues the coach to keep the horses going.

Where Asparagus Grows Wild.

Asparagus was not introduced into Britain by the Romans, who applied the term asparagus to tender shoots which, according to Juvenal, grew on mountains (Montani asparagi). The plant is certainly native with us and occurs sparsely on the eastern and southern coasts of England at Anglesey and Pembroke in Wales and around Wexford and Waterford in Ireland. It is no longer found on Asparagus Island, near the Lizard, as all text books of English botany assert, but still grows profusely on some neighboring cliffs of Kynance Cove, Westminster Gazette.

tachment in the five-mile parade which Mrs. Pankhurst is planning. There will be 40,000 in the parade, as she has planned it.

Who Was There That You Knew?

IN the shadowy ranks of those who marched to defeat or death or victory fifty years ago in the mighty conflict that convulsed this great nation, is there father or grandfather or uncle of yours? Would you like to see a photograph of him in that long ago day of his youth—a photograph that he never knew was taken? Perhaps we can show you one; and in any case, we can tell you a story, stranger than any detective fiction, of 3,500 priceless photographs that were lost and are found again.

3,500 Long Buried Photographs of the Civil War

THEY were taken by the greatest photographer in the United States of that day; they were bought by the United States Government for $50,000; they were buried in the War Department for 50 years—they are buried there still. But a duplicate set was kept by the photographer—who died poor and broken down; that duplicate set was knocked from pillar to post for nearly 50 years, until it was discovered by a New England collector. J. Pierpont Morgan (tried to secure the collection)—Ex-President Garfield and General Benjamin F. Butler said it was worth $150,000—yet with the help of the Review of Reviews, the entire collection has been gathered into 10 great volumes and is placed within your reach at less than the value of one of the photographs.
It is the one accurate, impartial history of the Civil War—never heard before. Taken under protection of the Secret Service, these photographs bring to light thousands of little-known phases of the war; they penetrate to strange places and

Seagulls of Lerwick.

The seagulls are the sparrows of Lerwick, and as such they have a greater share in the town's life than have the sparrows of London. In the morning time you will note that a seagull sits on every chimney pot. Seagulls swoop and hover over every roof in the town. The air is full of their strange, high, plaintive, haunting cries. The children in each house have a pet name for their particular seagull, and having called them by those names, they feed them every day. And each seagull knows what is meant for him. No seagull attached to one house ever seeks to eat the food scattered from the house next door. He does not dare; the other gulls would kill him. The people of the town, if they come across a little pile of rice laid upon the roadway, step over it with care. And at night the seagulls leave their own appointed chimney pots and fly gracefully away to their resting places on the rocks of the Isle of Noss.—The Scotsman.

School Becky Sharp Attended.

If one had to select a single Thackeray shrine in London for a pilgrimage it might well be Walpole House on Chiswick Hill. This was not only the house where Thackeray as a nervous, shortsighted boy was placed at school with Dr. Turner and was so miserable that he tried to run away. It possesses that other interest which makes the scenes of Mr. Pickwick's imaginary adventures more historic than those of Dickens' real life, for Walpole House is certainly Miss Pinkerton's academy, and here is the spot where Becky Sharp scandalously hurled back the dictionary.

Lloyd Sanders, studying Old Chiswick, admits, indeed, that Thackeray borrowed some details for Miss Pinkerton from other houses. But Walpole House is the basis. Here, too, when it was a boarding house, Daniel O'Connell ate his dinners and here Charles II.'s Duchess of Cleveland probably ended her days.

Not His Habit.

One of the best things W. S. Gilbert said was about Rutland Barrington, whose portly, unctuous humor was such an inimitable addition to the old D'Oyly Carte company. During the premiere of a new opera Gilbert was in a box with a party of friends, one of whom turned to him excitedly and said: "Oh, Mr. Gilbert, Rutland Barrington is singing in tune." "Oh, don't worry about that," said Gilbert "it's only first-night nervousness—he'll get over it."

Firemen on Liners.

There are 150 firemen on some of the large Atlantic steamers.

Rank Materialists.

In their outlook on life most Chinese are rank materialists, says a writer in the Century. They ply the stranger with questions as to his income, his means, the cost of his belongings. They cannily offer paper money instead of real money at the graves of their dead, and sacrifice paper images of the valuables that once were burned in the funeral pyre.

Yet no one who comes into close touch with the Chinese deems this utilitarianism a race trait. They are, in fact, capable of the highest idealism. Among the few who have come near to the thought of Buddha or Jesus one finds faces saintlike in their depth of spirituality. The materialism is imposed by hard economic conditions. It is the product of an age long anxiety about tomorrow's rice and is not to be counteracted by the influence of the petty lift them above sordid anxieties.

Remorse.

An agent in a flourishing western town writes as follows regarding pangs of conscience experienced by a former loss claimant. The claimant's method of easing his mind is unique and possesses the advantage of economy. The letter is as follows:

"We had a call this day from the Rev. _____, formerly of this city, who had a loss with you in 1892. He wanted to know the amount paid him on the loss, which he thinks was only a paint damage of from $12 to $14. He now concludes that it might not have been right for him to have accepted the money for the painting, as he says the building really needed painting at the time. He would now like to have the payment which was made him considered a donation from you."

Sterilizing Liquids.

Perfect sterilization of liquids by means of filtration only seems to be made possible on a large scale through a process originated by two French scientists and reported to the Academy of Scientists at a recent meeting. It is known that membranes of collodion have the property of retaining all the microbes in a liquid filtered through them. But they are very fragile and therefore impractical outside of the laboratory. By reinforcing the collodion membrane with a fine wire screen imbedded in it, just as a pane of glass is thus reinforced, the two scientists constructed a filter not only strong enough for practical purposes but so effective as to exclude even molecules of salts dissolved in the liquid.

The annual conference of Governors will be held this year in Spring Lake, N. J., on Sept. 12 to 16.

At Old Tricks.

Paducah, Ky., Aug. 22.—Grant Smith, a farmer residing on Rural Route No. 1, Benton, has received two letters warning him that he must leave the country. Both letters are signed "N. R.". The first letter was placed in his mail box July 15, and the second was mailed from Hardin on August 15. Smith says that he believes that an organization of night riders sent the two letters. For a month he has been watching at nights, and says he has located the leader and writer of the letters. The postoffice officials have been notified, and an arrest is expected to follow. Smith is not a tobacco grower, and does not know any reason for the anonymous letters, and says that he will remain in Marshall county.

High School Athletics.

Though no active training has begun, football enthusiasts of the Paducah High school are making preparations for the coming season which begins early in October.

As soon as the public schools open in September, Fain King, captain of the 1910 eleven, will work out more than twenty aspirants for honors.

Even now each morning the last year's members are spending an hour or two getting in readiness for the harder training which will come the latter part of September.—News Democrat.

La Joconde, the masterpiece of Leonardo de Vinci, for which the British government is said to have offered $5,000,000, has disappeared from the Salon Carre, of the Louvre, where it occupied the place of honor. ## ANNUAL MEETING.

Of The Kentucky State W. C. T. U. Here Next Month.

The Thirty first Annual Convention of the Kentucky state woman's Christian Temperance Union is hereby called to meet in Hopkinsville, Ky., Sept. 29 to Oct. 3. Committed to this organization is the greatest work of our age. Kentucky has been transformed under the quiet, insistent persistent work of the W. C. T. U. Our Annual Conventions are harvest homes where the bravest brainiest, best women meet in Council against the deadliest foe of the home and the child. Some of the ablest men and women of our nation will be with us in this convention. In the number is included that matchless hero Richmond Person Hobson.

ELOPERS CAUGHT

Madisonville Girl About to Wed a Wyoming Ranchman.

Miss Jessie Moore, aged 18, of Madisonville, answered a matrimonial advertisement of Al Meyers, aged 24, a Wyoming ranchman, six months ago. A wedding was planned and three weeks ago Meyers came to Madisonville, but the girl's father refused his consent. Thursday night they eloped. They drove to Nortonville, took the train to Princeton and thence to this city, after spending the night in different rooms at a Princeton hotel. They were caught here as they were boarding a train for Nashville. They were returned to Madisonville and Meyers went to the Moore home to talk it over and urge the father to consent. The girl said here that she had changed her mind and didn't want to marry.

A WONDER!

Aunt Martha Aged Eightythree Years Works 100 Acres Farm Alone.

Aunt Martha Spradley, aged 83, living near Booneville, Ind., is as active as most women are at 30 and there are few women, it is believed, that can do the manual labor that she does in a day. She owns a 100 acre farm, which she works herself. This year she has 15 acres of corn, 31 acres of tobacco, five acres of cow peas, ten acres of buckwheat, besides a large patch of potatoes and a good garden. She has her corn in good shape and has plowed the entire crop her self. After Mrs. Spradley has laid by her crops each summer and has her winter supply of wood she hauls coal for all of the schoolhouses in the neighborhood, and unloads it herself.

BIG CIRCUS IS COMING.

Great Adam Forepaugh And Most Famous Long Distance Sells Brothers United Shows.

TO BE HERE ON SEPT. 28.

Will Show In Mercer Park. Inside And Outside Ball Grounds.

The great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Bros. Big United Shows will exhibit in Hopkinsville on Thursday September 28.

Mr. Fred A. Morgan, the advance agent, was in the city Thursday and contracted for the Mercer Park grounds, in and out of the ball park fences. Fences will in some cases have to be removed to accommodate the big tents, but these are the best grounds to be obtained and while the show will be greatly crowded, it can get in the grounds by using the field east of the park in connection.

This is one of the greatest shows on the road and will of course come with public approval behind it in advance.

It has been several seasons since either of the shows, since consolidated, was in Hopkinsville.

Not A Day In Bed.

Gramling, S. C.—In a letter from Gramling, Mrs. Lula Waldey says: "I was so weak before I began taking Cardui, that it tired me to walk just a little. Since taking it, I do all the housework for my family of nine, and have not been in bed a day. Cardui is the greatest remedy for women, on earth." Weak women need Cardui. It is the ideal woman's tonic, because it is especially adapted for women's needs. It relieves backache, headache, dragging feelings, and other female misery. Try Cardui. A few doses will show you what it can do for you. It may be just what you want.

Frozen On the Beach.

Their bodies almost covered with snow, were found side by side by a boy walking down the peak this afternoon. It is understood both victims were printers employed on a Dallas, Tex., paper.

ATWOOD BEAT THE RECORD

Flight in World's History.

FINISHED TRIP YESTERDAY.

Slight Damage to His Machine Caused Halt Within 25 Miles of End.

Nyack, N. Y., August 25.—Harry N. Atwood, the American aviator, suffered a slight accident to his aeroplane shortly before 12 o'clock yesterday when he was within twenty-five miles of the finish of his record breaking aeroplane flight from St. Louis to New York City. He landed here to make repairs and will continue to New York to-day.

The rabbit metal in the connecting rod of Atwood's aeroplane burned out while he was rounding the mountain just north of here.

"I felt myself sinking" said Atwood, "and looked around for a place to land. I saw a convenient meadow and got to earth without further trouble.

Thrilling Feat.

The Boston aviator executed a thrilling feat in sight of hundreds this morning, when he passed Poughkeepsie.

Flying down the lordly Hudson about 300 feet above the river's surface, Atwood approached the lofty Poughkeepsie bridge. Slackened his speed, he glided downward in a graceful arc and swept under the span of the bridge nearest the city shore, which was lined with cheering hundreds. Atwood then rose again and flew off down the river.

The West Point parade ground was thronged with cadets and spectators from Highland Falls when Atwood was sighted rounding the Storm King Mountain. Instead of landing, Atwood made a sweeping flight over the encampment and then flew off and landed in a field near here.

He has already broken the world's record of 1,164 miles by 76 miles.

Roberts, of Lexington, Republican, and Napier Adams, Clerk of the Court of Appeals, Republican, chairman and umpire.

PEMBROKE R. R. 3.

Buford Johnson, Correspondent

Home phone 182-2 Pembroke Ex.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Leigh and daughter, Miss Mamie, returned home after several days' visit with Mrs. M. E. Morton.

Misses Mary and Virginia, Brown, have returned to Mr. H. H. Fulcher's after several days' visit with Mr. Tom Jones, of Hopkinsville.

Several from here attended the vaudeville show at Pembroke last week and report an enjoyable time.

Mr. Walter Thompson and family of near Fairview spent last Wednesday as the guests of Mr. T. H. Sneads.

Mr. H. H. Gooch, of near Russellville, was a pleasant visitor here Sunday.

Fire that is supposed to have originated from a defective flue destroyed the home of Mr. W. M. Williams on W. B. Burrus' place about 2 o'clock last Thursday afternoon. Mr. Williams is a bachelor and was away from home and did not learn of his house being burned until late in the evening. He lost everything he had. We did not learn the exact amount of the insurance. This is the second fire on this place this year as Mr. Burrus' home was destroyed by fire on Feb. 27.

Miss Evelyn Wade returned home Saturday after a week's visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Jane Wilkins, near Trenton.

Mr. J. E. Snead spent Friday in Hopkinsville.

Mr. H. H. Fulcher and family spent Sunday with the family of Mr. J. A. Browning, at Hopkinsville.

Rosy As a Girl.

Summit N. C.—In a letter received from this place, Mr. J. W. Church, the notary public, says: "My wife had been ailing for nearly 12 years, from female ailments, and at times, was unable to leave the house. She suffered agony with her side and back. We tried physicians for years, without relief. After these treatments all failed, she took Cardui, and gained in weight at once. Now she is red and rosy as a school girl." Cardui, as a tonic for women, has brought remarkable results. It relieves pain and misery and is the ideal tonic for young and old. Try it. At druggists.

L. P. HUBBARD

Young Piano Agent Held On Serious Charge.

Louis P. Hubbard, a young piano agent who has been here several months doing a good business, was taken into custody yesterday on a telegraphic order from a Chicago detective agency, ordering his arrest on a charge of embezzlement. Mr. Hubbard vigorously denies that the charge is true. He waived requisition and agreed to return with an officer expected to-day.

Farm Sold.

T. S. Knight & Co. has sold to Wm. Whitesides a farm of 104 acres.

KNOWN

Who Burned A School House Near Pembroke.

The Pembroke Journal says there is a clue to the incendiaries who burned the Lunderman schoolhouse, a few miles south of Pembroke, a few days ago, and that arrests will soon be made.

The motive is said to have been that some patrons of the school wanted the building torn away and a new one erected nearer to them, while others preferred that the old building be repaired and continued in use for the present at least. Preparatory to the opening of school, new seats and desks had been hauled out from Hopkinsville and placed in the building just the day before the fire occurred. Miss Flossie Reynolds, of Hopkinsville, who taught the school last year, had been employed for the present year, and had planned to open school the first Monday in September. It is said that another building is to be used this year, there being no funds available for a new house for the present.

Faculty of Bethel Female College

All of the academic teachers of Bethel will return excepting Miss Jennie Coleman. Miss DeTuncq of the music department will also be back for the third year of work at the college.

Miss Wedemuth, who has had the work in vocal music and expression for the past two years, will not return, as she has accepted a public school position in New York state. Next year the work that she has been doing will be separated. Miss Lois Finnell will take the work in expression and will combine with it the art department. Miss Finnell was graduated from Georgetown College in both of these subjects and has since done work in expression with Prof. Clark of Chicago University. She was a teacher of art for some time under the direction of Frances Shouse, late student of William Chon of Paris. Miss Finnell comes highly recommended as a reader and as an artist.

Miss Louisa Lowe has been engaged for vocal work. She is a graduate of both the music and academic departments of the Wesleyan College of West Virginia and comes from the Conservatory of the Wesleyan University of Ohio where she has been doing post graduate work. She is a choir leader and concert pianist and vocalist, and has had a successful experience as a teacher.

Miss Etta Meisner who was at each of piano last year, has accepted a position as supervisor and teacher of music in the Birmingham, Ala. Public schools, and Miss Marie Hille of this city will take her place at Bethel. Miss Hille is a graduate of the New England Conservatory and has had a very successful experience as a teacher of piano. Last year she had charge of the senior work at the Woman's College at Richmond, Va. This institution has called her for another year's work, but she prefers remaining in her home town.

The work in Domestic Science will continue to be under the care of Miss Elma Thompson.

Bethel has an exceptionally strong faculty this year and local patrons will find that their children will be given all of the advantages which are found in the first two or three years of colleges in other states.

IT REMINDED HIM OF HOME

Big Gale at Sea Had No Terrors for the Passenger From the Cyclone State.

A native of one of the most western of the United States of America was crossing the Atlantic in rough weather.

One morning he went up on deck when a big gale was blowing. Nobody was in sight except the captain.

"Go below there!" shouted the captain.

The passenger looked around to see to whom he was talking.

"You mean me?" he yelled back, as there was no one else in sight.

"Of course I do. Go below!" and the captain came alongside.

"Well, I guess not," protested the passenger. "I'm up here to see how one of your mountain-high waves and your terrific gales compare with what we have at home in the way of cyclones. This ain't a patch to what I've seen out our way."

A big wave just then broke over the deck, sweeping the speaker aft. They picked him up with a broken leg, a twisted shoulder and a sprained wrist.

When he came to he saw the captain.

"Captain," he said, feebly, "that reminded me of home, only it was a sight wetter."—Variety Life.

BIGGEST CITIES OF WORLD

London Still Far in Lead, but New York Is Growing Faster Than Any Other.

London, the largest city in the world, has a population, as now officially announced, of 7,252,963, as against 6,581,402 in 1901—an increase in ten years of 671,561, or only 10.2 per cent. The population of New York is 4,766,883, and with a gain in the ten years of 38.7 per cent, is growing faster than any other great city in the world. At the rate at which the two largest cities are growing it will take a long time for New York to catch up with London; but it would be a great misfortune if it ever did catch up—there is too much congestion in New York already. The third city in size is Paris, whose population is probably 3,000,000. The fourth city is perhaps Berlin, which had a little over 2,000,000 five years ago. Tokyo and Chicago fall a little under the 2,500,000 mark, and St. Petersburg, Vienna, Canton, Peking, Moscow and Philadelphia are below 2,000,000.—Rochester Post-Express.

Lo! the Canteloupe.

Basking in its bed of gauzy tissue, or lolling indolently in pyramids of its own kith and kin, the lying, deceitful canteloupe is again in our midst. Seductively it flaunts its crinkled surface, mottled in green, olive and yellow, and hidden wealth of flavor and fragrance, to lure mankind to explore its vaulted hidden wealth of flavor and fragrance.

"Trust her not. She is fooling thee." No such extravagance of deceit and untruth was ever encompassed in so small a space. It is a lure of life and unfulfilled promises, driving mankind to wrath and dire replete. Man goes forth to buy joyously and in hopeful expectation of gustatory delight, only to consume in despair and sorrow. The canteloupe is ever an unfaithful promise.

And yet, if perchance, as the dusky diamond digger, once in a generation or a lifetime, unearths from the blue clay a Kohinoor or a Gullinan, one greatly favored by fortune, a child of destiny, luckily plucks from the sordid piles of promise a melon in which the elements have mingled and blended sweetness and fragrance and perfection, he forgives and forgets, and becomes again a slave to the lure of the canteloupe.

Successward.

Miss Annie S. Peck, the famous mountaineer, was talking at a garden party in Boston about her contemplated climb in the Andes.

"To what," said a girlhood friend from Providence, "do you attribute, Miss Peck, your success as a mountaineer?"

"Simply to perseverance, to assiduity," the other answered. "That is the secret of all success. A great department store keeper put the idea, though, more neatly than I have done. At a birthday dinner he said: 'I attribute my success to the fact that if a customer doesn't see what she wants I've always made her want what she sees.'"

Jumping to a Wrong Conclusion.

Jimmy, like all healthy boys, was fond of playing outdoors, and like boys in general he usually got himself scandalously dirty. He was about to sit down to dinner one day, when his mother happened to notice the soiled condition of his hands and sent him out to the kitchen to wash them.

"You incorrigible boy!" she exclaimed, as soon as she saw the basin of water in which he had performed the required ablutions. "How in the world do you manage to get your hands so dirty?"

"That didn't all come from my hands!" indignantly answered Jimmy. "I washed my face in that water, too!"

—Youth's Companion.

Up-to-Date.

"Mr. Cleaver, how do you account for the fact that I found a piece of rubber tire in one of the sausages I bought here last week?"

"My dear madam, that only goes to show that the motor car is replacing the horse everywhere."—Exchange.

CHRISTMAS DAY OF "DEVIL"

Printer's Lad, Waiting for Copy From Masson, Spent Holiday in the Author's House.

It happened that sad Christmas tide of 1863, when Thackeray lay dead and all the London papers were busy with his name, my father received a hurried little note from Edward Levy—after Levy Lawson, the present Lord Burnham—asking him to write the article for the Daily Telegraph on Thackeray's death. I found the note not long ago among some papers. It was dated "December 25, 1863," and asked my father to "do for us today a leader on the present condition of English literature apropos of the death of Thackeray." And there was a postscript: "The hearer will walk about the country till you tell him to return for copy."

The story of that little printer's devil and how he spent his Christmas day in our house in Finchley road has been handed down in the family annals. He may, in obedience to his employer, have taken a little walk about the wintry Hampstead or Kilburn fields, but he most certainly and sensibly came back to eat his Christmas dinner; I believe he was with us all day. It must have been quite late at night when the parlor maid, so the story goes, looked into the study with a rather scared face and whispered to my mother: "Please, ma'am, the devil has been sitting by the kitchen fire the whole evening and cook says hadn't she better give him a hot sup per now?"—Miss Flora Masson in Cornhill Magazine.

LIGHTHOUSE HAS NO KEEPER

Volcano on San Salvador Whose Flashes of Light Come Regularly Every Seven Minutes.

"What do you think of a perpetual lighthouse, needing no keeper, and yet as regular in its flashes of light as one maintained by the government?" asked Albert D. Van Wyck, a globe trotter, at the Raleigh.

"This natural light never fails, and that means much for navigation. It is a volcano on the island of San Salvador. This volcanic lighthouse is about eight miles inland from the port of Acajutla. It is a veritable pillar of cloud by day, and the flash of its light by night has been valuable to mariners for years. It can be seen far out at sea, and a burst of flame has gone upward every seven minutes, without the variation of a second, for many years.

"The few visitors who stop at San Salvador amuse themselves the first few days by holding their watches and timing the outburst of flame.

"A lighthouse fee is collected of all vessels that put in at the harbor nearest the volcano, and no skipper objects. He knows that the volcano is more reliable than the lighthouses kept by human beings on other coasts, and the novelty of the light is worth the price charged by the government. There is the usual detonation caused by the eruption every seven minutes, and the ground is shaken, but, after a short sojourn on the island you fail to notice it, and would be the more shocked if it did not occur."—Washington Post.

Where David Copperfield Was Written

"Bleak House" at Broadstairs, England, which has failed to find a purchaser, is of interest to the Dickens lover because the greater part of "David Copperfield" was written there. But it is not the "Bleak House" of the novel, which is definitely located in Hertfordshire. The novelist and his family appear to have been somewhat tightly packed in their Broadstairs home. When Lord Carlisle contemplated paying a visit to "our watering place" in 1851, Dickens wrote promising him the North Foreland Lighthouse for a night light in his bedroom, and he continues: "As we think of putting mignonette boxes outside the windows for the younger children to sleep in by and by, I am afraid we should give your servant the cramp if we hardly undertook to lodge him." During the last few years the house has been transformed out of all recognition.

Great Saving of Time.

The manager of one of the electric light companies of the western part of the country has greatly facilitated the business of making the monthly readings of meters by having these instruments placed on the rear porches of houses instead of in the cellars. About half of the meters of this company are now located in some convenient and protected place in the rear of the house, where it is always accessible without regard to the presence or absence of the inmates of the house. The result is that the average time formerly consumed by the inspector has been cut about in half.

The Kind.

"I have a new vacuum cleaning proposition and I'm trying to find some financial backing to put it on the market. What kind of a capitalist would you suggest as best to approach?"

"Why not try a sucker with the dust?"

A Warning Heeded.

"I once heard your wife recite 'Our few Shall Not Ring Tonight,'" said the reminiscent friend.

"Yes," responded Mr. Meekton, with a smile of confident approval. "And I take notice that the curfew has gone out of business."

NO CAUSE FOR GREAT ALARM

Large Number of Defective School Children an Old Phenomenon, Now More Evident.

The enormous number of defective school children should not alarm us too greatly. Bad as it all is, there is plenty of evidence that it is an old, old phenomenon—as old indeed as man himself—but now more evident because there are more people. It is less in rural districts, though still present, and as the population is now largely urban, it is quite natural that the proportion of defectives should increase, though as a matter of fact there is no evidence that it has. Big cities are modern affairs and that is why their phenomena are being discovered, but the accounts of London some centuries ago showed a deplorable number of defectives, probably far greater in proportion than in New York now. Though it is appalling that there should be nearly a quarter million diseased school children, yet the defects are of minor things, while formerly they were severe. The seat of most of the trouble is said to be malnutrition, but it is not nearly so bad as in European cities of the last century. That is, the new facts must not cause undue pessimism, but rather the reverse, for they show that though there is an immense preventive work ahead of us, the progress made in a century or even a half century has been enormous. Optimism is in place, even if we are sure that perfection is unattainable. Moreover, our preventive work is rapidly becoming more and more efficient now that we are learning the exact conditions and their causes.—American Medicine.

OLD-FASHIONED SWEET HERBS

Lavender, Thyme, Rosemary and Others That Give Forth Odors Both Fresh and Invigorating.

I spent most of my schoolday holidays at my grandmother's place, in Yorkshire, England, where many of the customs of Queen Anne's time remain unchanged. So to me lavender and herbs seemed indispensable in a self-respecting household, and, as soon as I owned a garden, they were installed.

At grandmother's sheer muslin bags, filled with lavender, thyme and rosemary, were kept in every cupboard, bureau drawer and chest. Large jars, filled with rose leaves and mignonette, all the herbs and many spices, were stowed in the sitting rooms and halls, the lids were removed for about half an hour each day, after sweeping and dusting were done, so that a faint, indescribable perfume permeated the whole house, and was most delightful.

Even physicians agree that sweet odors are beneficial and valuable as disinfectants. Those who have never experienced the delight of sleeping between sheets redolent of sweet herbs have before them a joy that will not soon be forgotten. Punk sticks and pastilles have a positive odor, pleasing for a time, but it becomes tiresome; herbal odors are fresh and invigorating.—Kate V. St. Maur, in the Woman's Home Companion.

Man and the Crowd.

An address once made by President Schurman to the graduating class at Cornell was an eloquent appeal for the individual against the crowd. "Would you abolish poverty, would you advance civilization?" he asked. "Then educate individuals one by one to be more virtuous, more intelligent, more skillful, more industrious."

Upon the soundness of the plea there will be general agreement. It is but a new statement of the philosophy of Jesus that each man should take care of his own soul. But it is a creed that has been much more successfully taught on lonely farms and pastures than in universities.

Still, the creed is a good one to teach. It can never be taught too often. Better than all laws against vice and crime and folly is an impulse toward self-reform. And perhaps such an impulse was never more needed than now, for never was the voice of the crowd more clamorous nor the influence of the crowd more potent. He that can make sure of his own thought amid its noises is a philosopher. He that can stand against its power is a hero.—New York World.

What Geese Said.

An Englishman hired Kerrigan to attend to his stock farm, says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. In the evening he asked Kerrigan if he had fed the stock and what he had given to the geese.

Kerrigan—Two bales of hay, sir.

Englishman—What? Two bales of hay to the geese to eat?

Kerrigan—Yes, sir.

Englishman—And did they eat it?

Kerrigan—No, they did not; but they were all talking about it when I left.

And Women Only Glow.

There are rules to be observed even in expressing one's self concerning the effects of the weather upon one's anatomy. A young Frenchwoman, who was learning English while on tour with an American governess, once inadvertently exclaimed, "Oh, my, I am all of a sweat!" "Made-moiselle," explained the governess, severely, "never let me hear you use that word again! Horrors sweat, men perspire. Women only glow."

Thursday Beasley was in the box and a close and hotly contested game was won in the tenth inning by Henderson. Wall pitching. No game yesterday on account of wet grounds.

The locals left for Jack on last night for three games.

There will be no more games here until Sept. 5, except a special game next Tuesday between Hopkinsville and Clarksville, to break the season's tie in games each.

It is expected that 2000 people will see this game. Special trains, and trains held until the game is over.

Frank H. Bassett will umpire the game.

Bunts And Flies.

Clarksville has put in a new battery called "the Anderson combination." Wingo Anderson is pitcher and Bob Anderson catcher. In the first try-out with Vincennes resulted in a tie, but the Leaf-Chronicle says:

The Anderson and Anderson battery looked more like class A baseball than anything we have yet seen in Clarksville."

Kesling is doing well with his broken leg and can now sit up in his room at the Hille flats. He has been overwhelmed with kind attention from the people, who have sent him flowers and good things to eat.

There is soon to be of a season championship game between Hopkinsville and Clarksville on the 29th at Hopkinsville. A permission has been obtained from the League president. It will be hot stuff if it comes off. Both teams have an open date on the 29th. The teams have played 18 games winning 9 apiece.

In 27 innings, three games, Fulton failed to score against Henderson.

Red Gust, after his tryout with St. Louis, is back to finish the season.

Dummy Hughes is sick with scarlet fever at Cairo and a change has been made in the line-up, with Taylor and Weakley on 1st and Wolfe catcher.

Wright, one of the Henderson pitchers, is laid up with a ball on his head.

The losses of the two leading clubs have served to bunch the teams more for a doubtful finish.

Every paper that has picked an all-star team except one has put Henderson at shortstop. The Vincennes paper picked Heck.

A long black book containing receipts and accounts and was returned to this office by a clerk of Hopkinsville. —Rosa.

SIZED HER UP.

Mrs. Whye—Do you keep your cooks long?

Mrs. Whye—Not very. I tried to get the last one to stay long enough for me to get a snapshot of her as a souvenir, but she was too quick for me.

They Knew—the Little Dearest! With reference to Sir Almroth Wright's opinion that, from a hygienic point of view, washing is an evil, it is interesting to note that children have always shown a wonderful instinct in this respect.

But She Got Her Way. The difference between a "henpeck" and a masterful husband is that one gives in at once, while the other does it the next day.
